2012 CUSTOMER SERVICE REPORT

TPWD provides products and services to a wide range of external customer groups and individual customers. A solid customer service orientation and ongoing efforts to solicit feedback regarding preferences and satisfaction are vital to our ability to effectively meet the needs of these customers. Recent/ongoing examples of these survey/customer assessment efforts include:

- Annual public scoping meetings – conducted to obtain customer feedback regarding management direction on specific issues of interest
- Frequent meetings with advisory committees and boards – to help guide programmatic decisions and development of proposed regulations and other recommendations
- Annual angler creel surveys – conducted on water bodies throughout the state to determine angler impact on aquatic resources and overall angler satisfaction with management efforts
- Statewide angler surveys – conducted every three years to determine general attitude and opinion regarding statewide management efforts, angler preferences, and specific resource management issues
- TPWD online customer satisfaction survey (general)
- Department website – TPWD routinely solicits and responds to public comment and inquiries through the agency website

For the purpose of this report, TPWD will focus on the TPWD online customer satisfaction survey.

TPWD ONLINE CUSTOMER SATISFACTION SURVEY

A website customer satisfaction survey of key TPWD constituents – state park visitors, hunters, freshwater and saltwater anglers, boaters, jet skiers, birders and wildlife watchers was conducted in the winter of 2011. The survey measured the statutorily required customer service quality elements:

- Overall satisfaction with TPWD;
- Satisfaction with TPWD facilities;
- Satisfaction with TPWD staff;
- Satisfaction with TPWD communications;
- Satisfaction with the TPWD website;
- Satisfaction with TPWD complaint-handling processes;
- Satisfaction with TPWD service timeliness;
- Satisfaction with TPWD printed information.

The survey also collected data on the customer's level of participation in several outdoor activities to define the customer groups.

A. Information Gathering Methods

The survey was conducted on the TPWD website from January 15, 2011 through March 1, 2011. The goal was to collect a minimum of 400 responses, with at least 100 in each of the key customer groups (state park visitors, hunters, freshwater anglers, saltwater anglers, boaters, wildlife viewers). The survey was posted on the TPWD website in the highly visible areas of the home page and the web pages for park visitors, hunters, anglers, boaters, and wildlife viewers. The survey was conducted as a convenience sample in which web visitors had the option to click on the survey button and complete the survey online. It is recognized that a convenience sample poses a risk of non-response bias; therefore, the results are presented as indicators of the satisfaction of the customer groups measured. A future study with a random sample would be necessary to completely measure the satisfaction levels of TPWD customers. However, the costs of performing such a study would be substantial.

TIME FRAME

The survey was made available on the TPWD website January 15, 2011 through March 1, 2011.

METHODOLOGY

Visitors to the TPWD website could click on the survey button to complete the survey. The survey data was automatically entered electronically into a database, and analysis of the data was completed by Marketing staff.

LIMITATIONS

The primary limitation of this research is that the survey was conducted as a convenience sample in which web visitors had the option to complete the survey while visiting the TPWD website. A convenience sample poses risks as it may not fully represent the population of TPWD customers and there was no way to follow up with respondents to determine whether respondents differed from non-respondents.

Additionally, due to the use of the website to conduct the survey, TPWD customers who do not have Internet access could not take part in the survey. Though the use of the Internet is generally high among Americans, and Internet access is widely available through libraries and schools as well as in private homes and offices, it is possible that TPWD customers who do not use the Internet may vary from the web users who participated in the survey.

Another limitation of this study is that the survey was conducted during a single period of the year (winter 2011) and does not cover the broadest possible range of customers who use the TPWD website. However, earlier online surveys were conducted in the fall and winter of 2004, the summer of 2007 and the spring of 2009 to capture visitor satisfaction across the other seasons. The results of these surveys were presented in previous Customer Service Reports.

NUMBER OF CUSTOMERS SURVEYED, SAMPLING ERROR, CONFIDENCE LEVEL AND RESPONSE RATE

A total of 787 customers completed the online satisfaction survey. Many of these customers fell into more than one customer group based on their participation in more than one outdoor recreation activity once or more per year; thus the groups are not mutually exclusive. The goal for overall sample size as well as sample within each group was exceeded. The final tally of customer group sample sizes is as follows:

Customer Group	Sample Size
Total Sample	787
State Park Overnight Visitors	704
State Park Day Visitors	747
Hunters	356
Freshwater Anglers	544
Saltwater Anglers	420
Boaters/Jet Skiers	487
Wildlife Watchers/Birders	586

The response rate cannot be calculated for this survey due to the methodology.

GROUPS EXCLUDED FROM THE DATA COLLECTION PROCESS

This survey was intended to target outdoor recreation users using the TPWD website. Due to this reason, other user groups that use the website such as landowners and commercial fishermen were not included in the survey.

B. Performance Measures

Outcome Measures

PERCENTAGE OF SURVEYED CUSTOMERS EXPRESSING OVERALL SATISFACTION WITH SERVICES RECEIVED

TPWD receives high satisfaction ratings from its customers in this survey. A total of 83% of customers report being either very satisfied or satisfied overall with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. Five percent of customers report being dissatisfied with the agency.

For the overall satisfaction question and nine of the twelve questions used to assess satisfaction levels on the statutorily required customer service elements, at least 70% of customers report being very satisfied or satisfied with TPWD's performance. These include the following areas: cleanliness of facilities, staff knowledge, staff friendliness, usefulness and ease of finding information on the website and printed information.

Forty-seven percent of customers are satisfied with the timeliness of TPWD's response to inquiries, 22% report being "neither satisfied nor dissatisfied," and 8% reported being dissatisfied.

Less than half of TPWD customers report being satisfied with complaint handling and TPWD's responsiveness to customer's complaints. However, a larger portion (34%) report being "neither satisfied nor dissatisfied," 43% responded that the question was not applicable, and only 3% are truly dissatisfied with this aspect of TPWD operations.

FY 2012 AND 2013 ESTIMATED PERFORMANCE

The TPWD Online Customer Satisfaction Survey is conducted approximately every two years and the results are reported in the Customer Service Report. The same survey instrument and general methodology that was used in past years will be used again in FY 2013. The next online survey will be implemented in the fall of 2012 (FY 2013). While a survey will not be conducted for FY 2012, based on the past survey results, customer satisfaction has tended to remain relatively consistent over time, and we would expect 2012 estimated performance to closely mirror historical trends.
